To Whom It May Concern:

Canzian/Johnston & Associates, LLC (CJA) has been acquainted with Tuscano Maher Roofing for over 30 years. TMR has been the roofing contractor on a countless number of our projects and their sister company NDS has provided survey and consulting services to CJA on a regular basis. In all that time, I have never met anyone more knowledgeable about roofing and roofing systems than the folks at TMR.

Mr. Maher is constantly researching roofing related topics and regularly sends me articles about improved roofing techniques, new systems, and roofing failure analyses from around the world. He understands not only the "nuts and bolts" of roofing, but also the science behind it. Mr. Maher has passed this knowledge and enthusiasm to his entire staff. In my opinion, it is this thorough understanding of their trade that has lead to TMR's successes.

The staff at TMR are fastidious about their work and seem to relish their status among the elite few roofers at the top of their field. Their work is always performed on a timely basis and they stand behind their product.

Due to the arms length relationship that architectural firms must maintain with contractors, CJA does not normally provide blanket letters of recommendation. However, after 30 plus years of successful projects with no bad experiences, CJA heartily recommends Tuscano Maher Roofing to anyone searching for a first rate roofing contractor.
